GUARDS LOOK FOR STEAMER CREW'S BODIES

Recover Four Persons From Lake and Sight Debris
Thought to Be Ship's

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—Coast guard crews of four Lake Michigan cities were to combine forces today in a search for bodies of the car ferry Milwaukee, believed to have foundered and sunk with its crew of 52 men in the worst storm that has swept the lake region in 30 years.

Four bodies, encased in life preservers bearing the lost ship's name, have been picked up by ships off Kenosha, Wis.

None of the bodies has been definitely identified. Officials of the Grand Trunk railway, owners of the Milwaukee, have practically given up hope that the ship is still afloat and coast guard crews are certain that the entire crew was lost when the ship, battered to pieces by the gale and high waves, went to the bottom of the lake.

The motor ship steel chemist picked up the first two bodies between Kenosha and Racine, Wis., ten miles off shore, when the boat docked here with the bodies its crew reported sighting pieces of floating mattress and part of a shattered pilot house.

Coast guardsmen at Kenosha discovered the other two bodies in practically the same "lane" as the first ones were found.

SIGHT DEBRIS
The crew of the U. S. Engineering tug Elder reported sighting a screen door, part of a galley, a chair and a saxophone case, all believed to be from the Milwaukee.

A watch found on one of the bodies had stopped at 3:30. The ill-fated ship left Milwaukee Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock for Grand Haven, Mich., carrying 27 loaded freight cars.

It is believed that lurching of the storm-tossed ship wrenched the cars loose from the rails in the hold of the ferry, causing it to tilt and founder.

Damage amounting to millions of dollars has been reported from shore line cities on both side of the lake.

Waves have destroyed houses, torn shore drives and smashed breakwaters in Chicago, Milwaukee and smaller cities.

Thirteen men were taken from the wooden freighter N. J. Nessen off Leamington, Ont., before it was battered to pieces.

Rescuers saved 23 persons from the S. S. Maple Court which grounded on Magnetic Reef in Upper Lake Huron.

Thirty-two men of the crew remained aboard the William B. Pilkey, an ore carrier, aground near Detroit, Mich., as rescue ships stood by to give assistance.

WALL STREET MORE QUIET

(BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN)
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Tension in Wall Street was relieved somewhat today when the stock market opened one to three points higher. Volume of trading, however, was enormous but not at the terrific clip of yesterday—the biggest day in the history of the exchange.

Sales for the first half hour averaged 1,228,000 shares, a tremendous total. But yesterday the first half hour total was 1,870,000 shares.

Fresh buying and the reassuring statements of America's most powerful banking interests that "basic conditions are sound" were the factors that contributed to the initial support of the market.

An undercurrent of excitement pervaded the stock exchange and the financial district. The brokers were at the trading posts long before the gong rang at 10 a. m., to start business for the day.

Huge crowds surged back and forth in the streets outside. Spectators were not permitted to enter the exchange gallery to view the scene on the floor. Mounted police patrolled the narrow thoroughfares in the vicinity of the exchange. There was no disorder.

At 10:30 a. m. the ticker was running 14 minutes behind in reporting sales.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Prices on the London stock exchange had a decidedly firmer tone in the early trading today.

Dominant among the stocks which made slight gains this morning were the Anglo-American issues.

Bullish confidence appeared to have been restored somewhat by the optimistic statements made by American bankers and the fact that stocks on the New York exchange were able to rally yesterday after suffering the wildest break in history.

KIN OF LOCAL LAWYER DIES IN NEW YORK

Mrs. Clara Hewes, 76, Invalid, Strangled To Death
By 14-Year-Old Boy.

News was received in Circleville late Thursday, of the murder of Mrs. Clara Hewes, 76, and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl Seyfert, a former resident and sister of the late M. C. Seyfert of S. Pickaway-st. It was Attorney Max Seyfert of this city who is in New York City with his mother, Mrs. M. C. Seyfert and sister, Miss Huda Seyfert, who identified the body.

Mrs. Hewes, an invalid for years, was strangled to death in her bed, by a 14-year old son of the janitor of the W. 17th-st apartment in which she lived. Edward Moran, the boy, is charged with the murder following a confession he is said to have made to police. According to the confession, he killed the woman because she awoke while he was stealing $3 from her dresser.

FOUND WEDNESDAY
The body of Mrs. Hewes was found in bed Wednesday afternoon, by a negro woman who came regularly to give Mrs. Hewes treatments for rheumatism.

According to police, the boy told them that he operated the apartment building elevator for his father during the lunch hour Wednesday and took a woman visitor to the apartment of Mrs. Hewes who was asleep. He said the woman gave him 10 cents to arouse Mrs. Hewes, after which he re-entered the apartment, waited a few moments and told the woman he was unable to awaken her.

He said he had lunch and started back to school when he remembered seeing some bills on Mrs. Hewes' dresser and decided to go back for them. As his hand closed over the money he said Mrs. Hewes awoke, grabbed his hand and in the scuffle he felt his hands about her neck. She fell back, he told police, and he saw she was dead.

THREW STONE
The boy said he started back to school, but picked up a stone and as a ruse to divert suspicion, returned to the apartment and threw the stone through a window. He then went to school, police said he told them, and later lost $2.50 throwing dice and spent the remainder of the money for candy, cake and ice cream.

While he was at school Thursday detectives said they learned he had stolen money from Mrs. Hewes before and decided to question him. After two hours of questioning in the presence of his father and Assistant District Attorney Green, police said he shouted, "I'll tell you the truth," and then made the confession. He was held on a charge of homicide.

Mrs. Seyfert and daughter, Miss Huda, have been in New York for a month, and Attorney Seyfert for three weeks. They are registered at the Park Central Hotel.

They will attend the funeral of Mrs. Hewes in New York on Saturday.

FEAR 5 MILLIONS HOLLYWOOD LOSS

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Oct. 25.—(INS.)—An estimate of the loss caused by a fire which took one life and endangered almost priceless film negatives in the plant of the Consolidated Film Laboratories, Inc., was to be made today if the vaults containing the master negatives have cooled sufficient to allow an examination.

A possible loss of $4,500,000 was feared by officials of the laboratory if films stored in the vaults were damaged by the heat and flames. A known loss of $1,500,000 was caused, officials said.

MONTANA AIRMAN IN FLIGHT ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Picture shows Urban F. Diteman, Jr., and his low wing Barling monoplane, the Golden Hind, in which he attempted to fly the Atlantic. The hopoff was made with an utter absence of advance publicity, and almost nothing was known of Diteman's plans. The start was made from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, at 12:15 p. m., St. John's time. Mrs. Diteman, in Billings, Mont., seemingly was the only person beside the pilot who knew of the adventure. The plane was carrying 165 gallons of gasoline and had been equipped for overseas navigation. Diteman's destination was London, a flight of approximately 2,350 miles.

GIVE UP HOPE FOR DITEMAN

Deny Reports of Small Pieces of Plane Being Found In Ocean.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Hardly an iota of hope remained today for the safety of Urban F. Diteman, Billings, Mont., a cattle man who left Harbor Grace, N. F., Tuesday on a solo-flight to London and hasn't been heard from since.

Reports of radio messages telling of the finding of wreckage in mid-ocean thought to have parts of the tiny, black and orange monoplane Golden Hind proved unauthentic and revived hope for Diteman died out with denials of the reports.

There are some who still feel that Diteman may have landed on some isolate spot or might have been picked up by a ship unequipped with radio apparatus, but even these admit the chances that he is safe are slim.

WILLIE DOODY GETS CHAIR

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—A jury today decided to send "Wee Willie" Doody, baby-faced two gun terror, to the electric chair for the murder of Police Chief Charles Levy of Berwyn, a suburb.

The verdict was returned this morning after the jury had deliberated three hours.

LUNACY CHARGES

A Mrs. Barrs, St. Paul, O., is being held in the county jail on a lunacy charge filed against her by her husband, Thursday.

William Shaw, Wayne-twip is also being held in the jail pending a lunacy hearing.

Fall Found Guilty of Accepting Bribe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Eight men and four women today found former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall guilty of having accepted a $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doheny, California oil baron, in exchange for an invaluable lease on the naval oil reserves.

It took the jury 23 hours and 50 minutes to reach its verdict.

Some of the harshness of the guilty verdict was removed, however, by the fact that the jury recommended mercy.

It is considered extremely doubtful, however, that the maximum penalty will be assessed because of the jury's recommendation of mercy.

STUNNING BLOW
The verdict was a stunning blow to the aged defendant, to his "old friend," E. L. Doheny, who contended that the $100,000 was just "a loan from one old friend to another," and to Fall's counsel, all had confidently expected a verdict of acquittal.

Frank J. Hogan, chief of the defense counsel, who once won acquittal for Fall and Doheny on a conspiracy charge, involving the same evidence that was presented in this trial, immediately demanded that the jury be polled.

Fall received the verdict slumped in the invalid's chair which he has occupied throughout the trial. His head was bowed, and his thin face, beneath its thinning white hair, was expressionless.

Mrs. Fall also received the news stoically, but Mrs. C. C. Chase, their daughter, broke down and sobbed hysterically as the realization that her father was convicted dawned upon her.

Thomas Norris, 29, bank teller, announced the verdict as foreman of the jury.

The poll then followed and each member as his or her name was called, responded guilty with a recommendation of mercy.

One of the results of Fall's conviction probably will be that the government will proceed to have Doheny indicted for bribery and tried as an accessory to the act of giving the ex-cabinet officer the $100,000. This is on the theory that Fall having been pronounced guilty of accepting bribery, Doheny becomes equally guilty as the bribe-giver.

As soon as the jury was polled and affirmed its verdict, Justice Hitz addressed the members. For the first time the jurors learned that Fall had collapsed during the first week of the trial, that four doctors had reported he had bronchial pneumonia, and advised against his continuing on trial.

These facts were related to the jurors by Justice Hitz, who said that he thought they were entitled to know what had taken place in their absence.

He told them, too, that the government had moved for a mistrial, and how the defense had objected, and how Fall, in defiance of the orders of his four doctors, had returned to the court room daily.

As soon as Justice Hitz had concluded, Hogan announced that "at the proper time" he would move for a new trial and a rest on judgment.

MRS. COOLIDGE'S MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Elmira Goodhue, 79, Passes Away In Hospital
After Long Illness.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—The nation today joined Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge in mourning the death of Mrs. Elmira Goodhue, mother of the wife of the former president of the United States.

Mrs. Goodhue, 79 years of age, passed away here last night at the Coolidge-Dickinson hospital where she had been a patient for nearly two years. Mrs. Coolidge was at the bedside when the end came, having been there since early afternoon.

Mrs. Goodhue had been a patient at the hospital since Dec. 11, 1927, when she suffered an attack of influenza. Rallying, she relapsed due to old age and had several sinking spells which brought Mrs. Coolidge from Washington to her mother's bedside.

Since their return from the White House, the former president and his wife had spent several hours each day at the hospital.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were keenly affected by Mrs. Goodhue's death.

Mrs. Lemira Barrett Goodhue was born in Nashua, N. H. in 1850 of sturdy New England stock. When Mrs. Goodhue was still a young girl her parents moved to Burlington, Vt., where she attended the public school and where she spent the greater part of her life. She was married to Andrew I. Goodhue in 1878. Mrs. Coolidge's only child was born in 1879.

Mrs. Lucy B. Price, president of the Pickaway-co Women's Christian Temperance Union and Mrs. Abbie Gusman, county treasurer, are attending the state W. C. T. U. convention at Toledo.

ITALY'S PRINCE IGNORES RIOT

Goes About Program While
Police Place Anti-Fascists
Under Watch.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 25.—While police kept all known anti-Fascists under the strictest surveillance, Crown Prince Humbert, heir to the Italian throne and fiance of Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, continued on a pre-arranged program of activities today, totalling ignoring his narrow escape from death yesterday.

Although Fernando Di Rosa, the would-be assassin of the Prince, avowed that he had undertaken to shoot the royal visitor on his own responsibility, the authorities have instituted a widespread investigation to find out whether or not any confederates had plotted the shooting with him.

He is being held in custody under close guard pending trial for the attempted shooting. An exiled native of Milan, Italy, Di Rosa had been studying law in Paris until a few days ago when he crossed into Belgium for the express purpose of killing the Prince, according to his own admission.

There was much speculation as to whether or not the Belgian government would permit his extradition to Italy if such a request was made by the latter government.

Prince Humbert today was to act as host at the Italian embassy at a luncheon to which the entire Belgian royal family, Premier Henri Jaspar and Foreign Minister Paul Hymans have been invited.

Defense and State End Cases
Thursday—Guilt Means
Jail Sentence.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—The fate of Alexander Pantages is expected to be placed in the hands of the jury of seven women and five men late today.

Final arguments in the wealthy theater owner's attack trial were half completed when court was to resume this morning. Deputy District Attorney Robert Stewart and Defense Attorney Jerry Geisler completed their argument yesterday afternoon.

W. J. Ford and W. I. Gilbert will address the jury today for the last three hours of Pantages' defense against the charges brought by Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer who sought to have her act booked on the Pantages vaudeville circuit.

District Attorney Baron Fitts has two hours allotted to him in which to present his final argument. When Fitts has finished Judge Charles Fricke will place the case in the jury's hands.

Pantages is charged with a statutory assault on Eunice Pringle, a girl under 18 and under the criminal code of the state, the penalty provided the jury finds Pantages guilty is as follows:

"Not more than one year in the county jail or not more than 50 years in the state penitentiary."

HARLEY MOSS DROVE TRUCK ON CROSSING

Had Been Hauling Pumpkins
To Circleville—Leaves
Wife, Three Children

Harley A. Moss, aged about 40, residing on the Ann Ritt farm three and one-half miles north of Circleville, was instantly killed at 10:22 a. m. Friday when he drove his Chevrolet truck into the path of a northbound Scioto Valley Traction interurban at Bell's Siding, within 300 yards of his home. A fractured skull was given as the cause of death.

Eye-witnesses of the fatal accident said the victim drove his truck into the track without looking in either direction.

William "Pop" Hyson, Chillicothe, veteran motorman who celebrated his 24th consecutive year of service with the Scioto Valley Traction Thursday was motorman of the car. Walter Corcoran, Chillicothe, was the conductor.

The interurban left the Circleville waiting room at 10:08 a. m. There were 14 passengers in the car.

HAULING PUMPKINS
Moss was on the truck alone, and had been hauling pumpkins to the Winorr factory in Circleville. He was returning from a trip to the factory for more pumpkins when the accident occurred.

Moss' Chevrolet truck was completely demolished, the front end of the car was slightly damaged with the pilot knocked down. According to Hyson and Corcoran, and eye-witnesses to the fatal accident the car was traveling at a rate of about 45 miles an hour.

Hyson didn't have a possible chance to stop the car because he was just 25 yards from the crossing when Moss drove his truck onto the track. The truck was dragged about 100 feet.

Moss had been a resident of the Ritt farm since last March.

He is survived by the widow, Florence, and three children, Helen, John and Charles, all at home.

The body was taken to the Albaugh funeral home, and will be taken to the Schlegel home at Ashville. Funeral services have not been arranged.

FORNEY BUS ACT AIDS SCHOOL KIDS

Auto Driver Must Stop For a
Parked Bus While Traveling Either Way.

Children who use school busses to get to their schools are protected against accident by the new Forney law which requires traffic to stop not less than 10 feet from the school bus that is taking on or discharging pupil passengers. This law applies to cars going both ways, for a driver approaching the bus must stop the same as the driver going in the same direction as the bus.

Drivers who fail to stop when approaching a school bus shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $100 or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed 30 days, or both.

School bus drivers must stop before crossing a railroad. The failure to do so subjects the driver to a heavy fine.

Any driver's certificate may be revoked by the county board of education on proof that the holder has been guilty of improper conduct or negligence of duty.

Mrs. W. B. Cady has returned home from Columbus.

Chairman of County Meet
At U. B. Church.

Recent rapid progress in consolidation of churches in Ohio communities and toward general "overhead" mergers of denominational bodies lends special timeliness to the meeting in the interest of Christian unity and co-operation, to be held at the United Brethren church here on Oct. 29, at 7:30 p. m.

The Ohio Council of Churches, which is sponsoring the meeting in connection with its plans for a statewide Christian unity movement, to be launched at the Centennial Pentecostal celebration in Columbus Jan. 19-26, reports that there are now nearly 100 consolidated churches in Ohio and that many other communities are considering such local mergers.

Numerous movements are also under way for merger of denominations holding similar faith and traditions, in some of which Ohioans are taking a leading part. Union of the Christian and Congregational churches on a national scale is expected as a result of

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(INS.)—Eight men and four women today found former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall guilty of having accepted a $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doheny, California oil baron, in exchange for an invaluable lease on the naval oil reserves.

It took the jury 23 hours and 50 minutes to reach its verdict.

Some of the harshness of the guilty verdict was removed, however, by the fact that the jury recommended mercy.

It is considered extremely doubtful, however, that the maximum penalty will be assessed because of the jury's recommendation of mercy.

STUNNING BLOW

The verdict was a stunning blow to the aged defendant, to his "old friend," E. L. Doheny, who contended that the $100,000 was just "a loan from one old friend to another," and to Fall's counsel, all had confidently expected a verdict of acquittal.

Frank J. Hogan, chief of the defense counsel, who once won acquittal for Fall and Doheny on a conspiracy charge, involving the same evidence that was presented in this trial, immediately demanded that the jury be polled.

Fall received the verdict slumped in the invalid's chair which he has occupied throughout the trial. His head was bowed, and his thin face, beneath its thinning white hair, was expressionless.

Mrs. Fall also received the news stoically, but Mrs. C. C. Chase, their daughter, broke down and sobbed hysterically as the realization that her father was convicted dawned upon her.

Thomas Norris, 29, bank teller, announced the verdict as foreman of the jury.

The poll then followed and each member as his or her name was called, responded guilty with a recommendation of mercy.

One of the results of Fall's conviction probably will be that the government will proceed to have Doheny indicted for bribery and tried as an accessory to the act of giving the ex-cabinet officer the $100,000. This is on the theory that Fall having been pronounced guilty of accepting bribery, Doheny becomes equally guilty as the bribe-giver.

As soon as the jury was polled and affirmed its verdict, Justice Hitz addressed the members. For the first time the jurors learned that Fall had collapsed during the first week of the trial, that four doctors had reported he had bronchial pneumonia, and advised against his continuing on trial.

These facts were related to the jurors by Justice Hitz, who said that he thought they were entitled to know what had taken place in their absence.

He told them, too, that the government had moved for a mistrial, and how the defense had objected, and how Fall, in defiance of the orders of his four doctors, had returned to the court room daily.

As soon as Justice Hitz had concluded, Hogan announced that "at the proper time" he would move for a new trial and a rest on judgment.

MRS. COOLIDGE'S MOTHER DIES

Mrs. Elmira Goodhue, 79,
Passes Away In Hospital
After Long Illness.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—The nation today joined Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge in mourning the death of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, mother of the wife of the former president of the United States.

Mrs. Goodhue, 79 years of age, passed away here last night at the Coolidge-Dickinson hospital where she had been a patient for nearly two years. Mrs. Coolidge was at the bedside when the end came, having been there since early afternoon.

Mrs. Goodhue had been a patient at the hospital since Dec. 11, 1927, when she suffered an attack of influenza. Relying, she relapsed due to old age and had several sinking spells which brought Mrs. Coolidge from Washington to her mother's bedside.

Since their return from the White House, the former president and his wife had spent several hours each day at the hospital.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were keenly affected by Mrs. Goodhue's death.

Mrs. Lemira Barrett Goodhue was born in Nashua, N. H., in 1850 of sturdy New England stock. When Mrs. Goodhue was still a young girl her parents moved to Burlington, Vt., where she attended the public school and where she spent the greater part of her life. She was married to Andrew I. Goodhue in 1878. Mrs. Coolidge, their only child, was born in 1879.

Mrs. Lucy B. Price, president of the Pickaway-co Women's Christian Temperance Union and Mrs. Abbie Gusman, county treasurer, are attending the state W. C. T. U. convention at Toledo.

ITALY'S PRINCE IGNORES RIOT

Goes About Program While
Police Place Anti-Fascists
Under Watch.

BRUSSELS, Oct. 25.—While police kept all known anti-Fascists under the strictest surveillance, Crown Prince Humbert, heir to the Italian throne and fiance of Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, continued on a pre-arranged program of activities today, totalling ignoring his narrow escape from death yesterday.

Although Fernando Di Rosa, the would-be assassin of the Prince, avowed that he had undertaken to shoot the royal visitor on his own responsibility, the authorities have instituted a widespread investigation to find out whether or not any confederates had plotted the shooting with him.

He is being held in custody under close guard pending trial for the attempted shooting. An exiled native of Milan, Italy, Di Rosa had been studying law in Paris until a few days ago when he crossed into Belgium for the express purpose of killing the Prince, according to his own admission.

There was much speculation as to whether or not the Belgian government would permit his extradition to Italy if such a request was made by the latter government.

Prince Humbert today was to act as host at the Italian embassy at a luncheon to which the entire Belgian royal family, Premier Henri Jaspar and Foreign Minister Paul Hymans have been invited.

JURY RECEIVES PANTAGES CASE

Defense and State End Cases
Thursday—Guilt Means
Jail Sentence.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25.—The fate of Alexander Pantages is expected to be placed in the hands of the jury of seven women and five men late today.

Final arguments in the wealthy theater owner's attack trial were held completed when court was to resume this morning. Deputy District Attorney Robert Stewart and Defense Attorney Jerry Geisler completed their argument yesterday afternoon.

W. J. Ford and W. I. Gilbert will address the jury today for the last three hours of Pantages' defense against the charges brought by Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer who sought to have her act booked on the Pantages vaudeville circuit.

District Attorney Buron Fitts has two hours allotted to him in which to present his final argument. When Fitts has finished Judge Charles Fricke will place the case in the jury's hands.

Pantages is charged with a statutory assault on Eunice Pringle, a girl under 18 and under the criminal code of the state, the penalty provided the jury finds Pantages guilty is as follows:

"Not more than one year in the county jail or not more than 50 years in the state penitentiary."

Mrs. F. P. Long, Kingston, suffered a fracture of a small bone in her left foot when a quart milk bottle fell and bit her.

HARLEY MOSS DROVE TRUCK ON CROSSING

Had Been Hauling Pumpkins
To Circleville — Leaves
Wife, Three Children

Harley A. Moss aged about 40, residing on the Ann Ritt farm three and one-half miles north of Circleville, was instantly killed at 10:22 a. m. Friday when he drove his Chevrolet truck into the path of a northbound Scioto Valley Traction interurban at Bell's Siding, within 300 yards of his home. A fractured skull was given as the cause of death.

Eye-witnesses of the fatal accident said the victim drove his truck into the track without looking in either direction.

William "Pop" Hyson, Chillicothe, veteran motorman who celebrated his 24th consecutive year of service with the Scioto Valley Traction Thursday was motorman of the car. Walter Corcoran, Chillicothe, was the conductor.

The interurban left the Circleville waiting room at 10:09 a. m. There were 14 passengers in the car.

HAULING PUMPKINS
Moss was on the truck alone, and had been hauling pumpkins to the Winorr factory in Circleville. He was returning from a trip to the factory for more pumpkins when the accident occurred.

Moss' Chevrolet truck was completely demolished, the front end of the car was slightly damaged with the pilot knocked down. According to Hyson and Corcoran, and eye-witnesses to the fatal accident the car was traveling at a rate of about 45 miles an hour. Hyson didn't have a possible chance to stop the car because he was just 25 yards from the crossing when Moss drove his truck onto the track. The truck was dragged about 100 feet.

Moss had been a resident of the Ritt farm since last March.

He is survived by the widow, Florence, and three children; Helen, John and Charles, all at home. The body was taken to the Albaugh funeral home, and will be taken to the Schlegel home at Ashville. Funeral services have not been arranged.

FORNEY BUS ACT AIDS SCHOOL KIDS

Auto Driver Must Stop For
Parked Bus While Traveling Either Way.

Children who use school busses to get to their schools are protected against accident by the new Forney law which requires traffic to stop not less than 10 feet from the school bus that is taking on or discharging pupil passengers. This law applies to cars going both ways, for a driver approaching the bus must stop the same as the driver going in the same direction as the bus.

Drivers who fail to stop when approaching a school bus shall be fined not less than $10 nor more than $100 or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed 30 days, or both.

School bus drivers must stop before crossing a railroad. The failure to do so subjects the driver to a heavy fine.

Any driver's certificate may be revoked by the county board of education on proof that the holder has been guilty of improper conduct or negligence of duty.

Mrs. W. B. Cady has returned home from Columbus.

HOST OF FRIENDS

Spinago Earns and Deserves Praises of Countless Residents of Circleville and Vicinity.

Spinago is still working overtime in Circleville. No sooner does this new medicine bring back health to one patient than there appears another sufferer anxious for relief from some deep-seated and stubborn complaint. So many residents of this city and the vicinity have derived such great benefit from Spinago's use that the word has gone around that at last a medicine has been found which does its work quickly, quietly and efficiently, that there is available now a tonic which speaks by deeds, not promises.

MRS. J. H. STEVENSON

And Spinago well deserves its reputation: Every day adds to the list of those who know by actual experience that stomach trouble, constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia, rheumatism, neuritis, and nervousness simply cannot withstand its powerful action: that liver, kidney and bowel complaints quickly disappear before it. They have learned that the blood is enriched and purified, the appetite restored, the body rebuilt, and that tired, sluggish feeling driven away through the use of Spinago. Mrs. John H. Stevenson who resides at 426 E. Union St., is just one of those who are thankful to this master tonic. Read what she has to say.

"For what seemed like ages I tried one remedy after another to relieve me of terrible suffering caused by my stomach and bowels. I experienced terrible agony after each meal, although I chose my food as carefully as possible. Waste matters were not properly eliminated from my system with the result that I lost all my energy and strength, and a dull, sluggish feeling overcame me. Little by little my weight fell off until I was almost a shadow of my former self. And all this time I tried one medicine after another seeking relief in vain.

"But Spinago it was that put an end to my troubles. Three bottles completely drove away all my suffering. My stomach and bowels have been put in order: I can eat anything I please without fear of pain and my energy and strength have been brought back to me. My weight is now back to normal and I feel much better in every way than I have for a long, long time. I am greatly indebted to Spinago for all it has done and can truthfully and gladly recommend it as the only medicine which could do my case any good whatever."

And Spinago is able to accomplish such feats as the above simply because its formula is practical—because its every component has a particular function to perform. Concentrated spinach is its most important ingredient, and who needs to be told the value of Spinach as a food? Every bottle of Spinago contains spinach in concentrated form in quantity greater than is contained in many, many pounds of fresh spinach. In addition to Spinach, this tonic is made up of a carefully selected assortment of medically valuable roots, herbs and barks such as gentian, poke root, cascara, sarsaparilla, mandrake, etc. Based upon such a formula, there is little wonder that Spinago can perform feats which seem almost like miracles.

Spinago is sold and guaranteed in Circleville by The Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St. and by all other good druggists in the entire section.—Adv.

conveying them, bleeding and sorely called physicians, ministered to their necessities.

Accidents like this are deplorable from every angle and particularly so when the persons involved are far from home and among strangers. At one moment bowing along hopefully and comfortably at a high rate of speed, undoubtedly, and in the next, maimed and bleeding, the helpless victims of an undreamed of and terrible catastrophe; meantime their means of transportation substantially wrecked and destroyed.

My real purpose in referring to this accident, is to call attention to the fact of N. Court-st as a veritable automobile speedway. I am sure that every citizen living along this street will corroborate my evidence in this regard.

The stretch of the Scioto Trail, reaching from Forest cemetery to High-st, for both incoming and outgoing traffic, is apparently regarded as a privileged section of highway; and as arrests for unlawful and exceedingly dangerous speeding over this section of the Trail are seldom if ever made, it would seem to be pretty generally understood that the capacity of cars for speed, is the limit. I should say that the average speed of fully one half the traffic, is from 50 to 60 miles an hour, occasional bursts reaching as much as 70 miles.

Over this stretch of ground to which I have alluded, a perfect mania for getting ahead of those in front seems to take possession of the average driver. It has come to be the usual thing for citizens along N. Court-st to be aroused from sleep, the dining room table or the quiet of a book or the newspaper, by a terrific crash, resulting from a collision of cars or a head-on contact with one of our big shade trees or a telephone pole; whereupon, we rush out of our homes horrified with the spectacle of screaming and bleeding victims and not infrequently the distorted and mangled bodies of others past all need of help.

I am wondering whether anything can or will be done about it in addition to the perils of car speeding, the danger to pedestrians is on the increase. The mouth of Ringgold pike or Northridge-rd is a real death-trap. Motorists coming to town do not always stop as they are supposed to do but not infrequently, with apparent devilish heedlessness, rush pell-mell out into the traffic of the Trail which has resulted, already, in a number of accidents. As for the pedestrians who must cross Northridge-rd in going down town or returning to his home, he gets scant consideration and must keep off the road or be run over. Only a very few drivers slow down on his account.

Here is a suggestion. If there were a few arrests made and stiff fines, well advertised, administered to the violators, the moral effect would probably be wholesome.

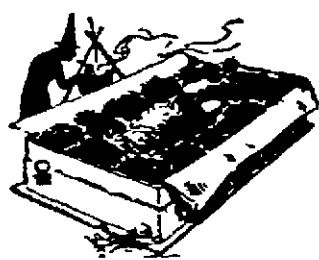

J. W. Johnson,
N. Court-St. Circleville.

Those "Good Old Days"

Although there were few roads and little traffic in Colonial days, traffic laws were rigidly enforced. Sunday traveling was illegal in some of the colonies, the statute defining Sunday as lasting from sundown Saturday until sundown on the Sabbath. It is related that a traveler, about to resume his journey, once left the tavern on Sunday evening, and standing beside his horse, waited until the sun, as he thought, had retired for the night. Then he mounted and rode off. Just then a last squirehead pierced the clouds for an instant, whereupon he was arrested by the vigilant town constable and fined.

In law a riot is the tumultuous disturbance of the peace by an unlawful assembly of three or more persons in the execution of some private object.

Gleaming hair!

The way modern hair dressers accentuate your hair by lovely lines and contours makes it important to keep the hair in perfect condition.

Now, millions know the quickest way to give the hair new life and lustre; to bring out its natural color, is with Danderine. It is so easy to use; you simply moisten your brush with it each time you arrange your hair.

Danderine dissolves the crust of dandruff; stops falling hair; puts the scalp in the pink of condition. It helps the hair grow long, silky, abundant; gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy-to-arrange; holds it in place. Waves look nicer; stay in longer when "set" with Danderine.

SOLEMN WARNING

This week, at its annual meeting, the American Bar Association will take up, among other things, a committee report which declares that "Unless our people are awakened to the swiftly changing form of our government, another generation will see this republic of ours converted into a government of the bureaucrats by the bureaucrats."

The report says Senator Aldrich declared 20 years ago, that he could save the country $300,000,000 a year if he were given a free hand to reform the Federal Administration and that Herbert Hoover, four years ago, said every President since McKinley had attempted this reform without success.

"Not one of these plans ever saw daylight or ever reached the floor of Congress," says the report, "but were all smothered in committees by the power of the bureaucracy."

The American Bar Association represents influential men in every part of the country. If its members work for administration reform, each in his own district, it is likely that Congress will sit up and take notice. The committee report estimates that twice the sum set by Senator Aldrich could be saved today. There is a vast amount of effective work which the government could do with $600,000,000, even if it left that amount in the pockets of the tax payers.

SOURCE OF HAPPINESS

John Dewey of Columbia University, philosopher, educator and social worker, celebrated his seventieth birthday on Sunday. Says he:

"There are two chief sources of happiness. The first is stimulants and congenial personal relations with family and friends. The second is finding a congenial calling."

He might have included health and abiding faith in the future, but, take it by and large, he said pretty nearly all that was to be said, and an exhaustive treatise on happiness would be little else than an elaboration of his two themes.

He adds: "I feel I've been rather unusually fortunate in both respects." Wherein he does honor to his family his friends, his calling and himself. A world that admires and respects but refuses to follow him extend felicitations.

CHAPTER XLIII.

NO, the whole truth was not the sort of thing he could discuss with Marian. At most he could tell only half-truths, and there would be about any explanation a confused effect that would have a hollow ring.

He was startled, suddenly, by the sharp ring of the telephone bell from inside.

The intense thought ran through him that Marian was calling. With joy and dread mingled he picked up the receiver.

"Hello," he said. "The voice of Bernice Veressi answered him."

"Hello, Eddie, darling! I just found how to operate this trick telephone. I'm at the hotel."

"Did you get home all right?" His replies were reluctant monosyllables. This was a party line—maybe she didn't know that—and everybody who cared to listen could hear every word.

The Thorndike home was on this line—but Marian wouldn't listen in on any one's conversation. She was no eavesdropper, but there were others—Gossip would spread.

"I couldn't go to bed without calling you, Eddie. I'm so lonesome for you tonight."

"Eddie, honey, if only I could see you for a few minutes. I want you to kiss me good night."

"Would she never stop! Cut that out! Listen, I can't talk to you any more—I'm busy—I'm busy."

"Eddie, darling, I'm so lonesome—"

In desperation he hung up the receiver. He was trembling all over. If she rang back he wouldn't answer it. He took a strip of torn newspaper and plucked the telephone bell so he could not hear its ringing.

Tonight, tonight his whole soul thrived for the carefree companionship of Marian Thorndike.

He wanted to walk to starlight. He wanted to immerse himself in some crystal-clear baptism of the spirit.

To be alone, now, was like being suffocated in a sealed room. The roof of his mouth was dry.

No potency existed in the beat-down voice of reason. He had to do what he was doing.

DERBY

Mr. and Mrs. Orland H. H. of the Nubels moved into the parsonage here last week. Since we were on the Daytonville circuit we had to go to live in the parsonage so it was a relief.

The P. T. A. met Friday evening at the school auditorium. Several new members were obtained in the first year of membership.

Mr. and Mrs. Bailey and sons were guests of Mr. Ellis Marshall Friday night.

Mrs. H. W. L. Lough spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. H. of Hamiltonburg.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hall had as Sunday visitors Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. and several other relatives from Columbus.

Misses Gray and Dorothy Marshall spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Tull and little son of Kentucky.

Mr. Warren Bauman was a representative of Mr. Sterling lodge at a Masonic convention at Toledo last week and went from

A moment later he had established a telephone connection. "Marian—Marian—"

Now that he had reached Marian on the telephone, he clung to the wire with a feeling that the connection between them might break at any moment. He was hanging on to her by a wire...

"Oh, hello," she said—and he thought her voice sounded cool, remote. "I didn't recognize you at first."

There was that in her tone which gave him the sensation of impenetrable aloofness. Just by the sound she seemed to convey an adverse feeling against which he could beat forever without changing it, unless she of her own accord decided to alter its indifference.

"I want to see you—"

Lightly she said without warmth, "Not tonight, though."

"I mean tonight."

"I'm sorry."

"But I want to see you. I must—"

"Call me up in a few days," she suggested. "I'm sorry I can't see you tonight. I have an engagement with Mr. Freeman."

But with Eddie there was no time for petty jealousy.

"See him another time," he urged. "You've got weeks and months ahead of you when you can see Freeman any time you want. I simply must see you tonight, Marian!"

"You sound awfully dramatic," she said—and it was as though she had struck him a cruel blow.

"It's vital to me," he declared. "See me only a half hour if you want to—but I need to see you. I'm not just trying to make a date."

"Is it really that important?"

She sounded now as though she feared something—as though against her will she was being dragged reluctantly into unpleasantness.

"It's the most important night in my life!" he explained—and believed it. "If you won't see me because you simply don't want to, please let me come through kindly."

"I don't know how I can get out of my date," she protested. "I'll telephone—"

"Tell me I can come."

As he drove along the road that led to Marian's home, he was unaware of the physical fact that he was in locomotion. Coherent thought had suspended operation, and he allowed the horse to find its own way.

He was not happy, nor yet sad; within himself was a great numbness from which he had neither the will nor desire to rouse himself. One fact, sufficient to blot out all else, hung like a single star in his mind. He was going to see Marian.

The business of hitching his horse in the yard and ascending to the veranda was automatic. When he presented himself at the door he was incapable of assuming any attitude—all he knew was that he was looking at Marian and she was greeting him.

A feeling of hollowness confused him. It was as though he had brought her the empty shell of himself.

"Shall we sit outdoors?" she suggested, and he answered her vaguely.

They sat down and she looked at him with a strange, searching expression.

"Now what is it?" she asked, "that is so all important? I got rid of Tom and I'm all prepared to be shocked or thrilled—which ever it is."

For the first time in his life he felt utterly incapable of speech. When he did speak, it surprised him to hear how unfamiliar his own voice was.

"I had to see you—"

She looked at him with a faint smile. Once or twice in her life she had been called upon to handle young men touched with some emotional stoppage.

"That's what you said over the telephone."

"It's important."

"So I judged—or at least you seemed to think so."

He was conscious of her sitting beside him, but not conscious of her as a flesh and blood girl. Through a divine mist he saw her as some half-real creature of an ethereal world. But there came to him, gradually, a realization that the pretty face so close to him was actual: the blue of her eyes looked at him with irritating rationality, and there was a half-tolerant smile on the exquisite lips.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks of Columbus visited Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brooks Wednesday.

Finley Jones and family of Delaware visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jones, Sunday. Mr. Lee Jones is sick.

The play given by the Ladies' Aid society Friday evening was well attended.

Mrs. Martin Neff has returned from her visit to her son, Floyd.

Tropical Nut

Cashew nuts are not just nuts in the manner of pecans. They are the seeds of the cashew fruit, but unlike the seeds of most fruit which are in the center of the fruit, the cashew nuts form the edge of the fruit. The fruit itself is a drupe. It is used in the tropical countries for the making of beverages, preserves, etc., or may be eaten raw.

DR. COPELAND SAYS— FOOT-CARE ESSENTIAL DURING COLD SPELLS

Clothe Your Feet According to the Temperature, to Avoid the Painful Symptoms So Common in Winter, Urges Dr. Copeland.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WHEN cold weather comes the feet require a lot of care. Many and many a person will have chilblains and painful feet till next Spring. Most of these foot ailments are preventable and curable.

Lots of us show little common sense in the way we dress in winter. We have a certain date for putting on the "heavy underwear" and another for taking it off. No matter what the temperature may be, we wear the same heavy clothing. We may perspire and feel miserably hot but that makes no difference. The calendar says we are in the season of cold weather and that settles it.

Thick, woolen stockings are worn from morning till night. In the warm house or barn these cause the feet to perspire and the stockings become moist. The moisture softens the skin and gets it ready to be chilled when the owner of the feet goes into the cold. Trouble is sure to follow.

The thick stockings cause the boots or shoes to be crowded and to pinch the feet. Perhaps the foot covering is too small anyhow. This leads to pressure on the blood vessels and serious interference with the circulation in the feet.

To guard against any harm that may come from cold, the first rule is that the blood must flow freely through the surfaces of the body. When you get chilled you heat your arms and chest. Why? To get the blood going in the surfaces.

You can see that tight shoes will prevent free circulation and prepare the way for uncomfortable happenings. These are inevitable if you fail to get the right foot-gear.

City people suffer less from cold feet than country folks. Most city homes have central heating plants. Not only are the rooms warm, but the floors are warm. There the heat is from stoves, the floors are heated for hours in the morning. The cellar under the living room is cold, and this chills the floor.

Housewives get men, motor men farmers—everybody having occasion to have the feet exposed to cold should bear several things in mind.

In the first place, keep the feet dry. To the end change the stockings several times a day if necessary. Wear rubbers if it is very wet.

Have the shoes well fitted, but above all else, make them big enough. They need not be monstrously big, any means, but buy good shoes and insist on having them properly adjusted. Provide yourself with an extra pair, so if you get them wet you can change to a dry pair.

Have stockings of different weights, so you can dress according to the temperature. Take pains not to have the stockings too short, as they are, capable of confining the

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

When Maurice Chevalier made his debut at the Ziegfeld Follies in New York in February the critics of the metropolis were as one in sounding his praises. They said that he was Will Rogers, Charlie Chaplin and Al Jolson all under one straw hat, and they predicted that the film he had just finished making in Hollywood, his first for the moving picture public, would be a great success.

That film, "Innocents of Paris" will be presented by Manager Mader at the Cliftona theatre Friday and Saturday.

It is difficult to describe the intangible quality of mimic art which this idol of the French stage yields over his audiences. Young and old take him to their hearts as soon as they glimpse his all-persuasive smile. His is a genius with something of the divine spark that made La Bernhardt immortal.

AT THE MET

Five graduates from "kid parts," in early Cecil B. DeMille production appear in "The Goddess Girl" in the more dignified portrayals of high school students.

Pat Moore featured as Pharaoh's son in "The Ten Commandments." May Giraci who was seen as a child in such productions as "Man-slaughter," "Feet of Clay" and "Triumph," Peaches Jackson cast in several Thomas Meighan pictures directed by De Mille; Bud McQuoid and Valentine Black, both of whom appeared in De Mille productions as babies, are now in their 'teens, and typify the high school age created by De Mille in "The Goddess Girl."

This latest Cecil B. DeMille production, written by Jeanie Macpherson, which is at the Met theatre on Friday, deals with modern youth and the problems it presents, the principal characters being of high school age. Lisa Basquette interprets the role of "The Godless Girl" while Marie Prevost a George Duryea are others prominent in the cast. Noah Beery a Kate Price portray characterizations of a more mature type. The picture is packed with thrills.

They sat down and she looked at him with a strange, searching expression.

"Now what is it?" she asked, "that is so all important? I got rid of Tom and I'm all prepared to be shocked or thrilled—which ever it is."

For the first time in his life he felt utterly incapable of speech. When he did speak, it surprised him to hear how unfamiliar his own voice was.

"I had to see you—"

She looked at him with a faint smile. Once or twice in her life she had been called upon to handle young men touched with some emotional stoppages.

"That's what you said over the telephone."

"So I judged—or at least you seemed to think so."

He was conscious of her sitting beside him, but not conscious of her as a flesh and blood girl. Through a divine mist he saw her as some half-real creature of an ethereal world. But there came to him, gradually, a realization that the pretty face so close to him was actual; the blue of her eyes looked at him with irritating patience, and there was a half-tolerant smile on the exquisite lips.

Tropical Nut

Cashew nuts are not real nuts in the manner of speaking. They are the seeds of the cashew fruit, but unlike the seeds of most fruit with which we are familiar, which are in the center of the fruit, the cashew nuts form the end of the fruit.

The fruit itself is delicious. It is used in the tropical countries for the making of beverages, preserves, etc., or may be eaten raw.

DR. COPELAND SAYS— FOOT-CARE ESSENTIAL DURING COLD SPELLS

Clothe Your Feet According to the Temperature, to Avoid the Painful Symptoms So Common in Winter, Urges Dr. Copeland.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

WHEN cold weather comes the feet require a lot of care. Many and many a person will have chilblains and painful feet till next Spring. Most of these foot ailments are preventable and curable.

Lots of us show little common sense in the way we dress in winter. We have a certain date for putting on the "heavy underwear" and another for taking it off. No matter what the temperature may be, we wear the same heavy clothing. We may perspire and feel miserably hot but that makes no difference. The calendar says we are in the season of cold weather and that settles it.

Thick, woolen stockings are worn from morning till night. In the warm house or barn these cause the feet to perspire and the stockings become moist. The moisture softens the skin and gets it ready to be chilled when the owner of the feet goes into the cold. Trouble is sure to follow.

The thick stockings cause the boots or shoes to be crowded and to pinch the feet. Perhaps the foot covering is too small anyhow. This leads to pressure on the blood vessels and serious interference with the circulation in the feet.

To guard against any harm that may come from cold, the first rule is that the blood must flow freely through the surfaces of the body. When you get chilled you beat your arms and chest. Why? To get the blood going in the surface.

You can see that tight shoes will prevent free circulation and prepare the way for uncomfortable happenings. These are inevitable if you fail to get the right foot-gear.

City people suffer less from cold feet than country folks. Most city homes have central heating plants. Not only are the rooms warm, but the floors are warm. Where the heating is from stoves the floors are cold for hours in the morning. The cellar under the living room is cold and this chills the floor.

Housewives, policemen, motor men, farmers—everybody having occasion to have the feet exposed to cold should bear several things in mind. In the first place, keep the feet dry. To this end change the stockings several times a day if necessary. Wear rubbers if it is very wet.

Have the shoes well fitted, but above all else have them big enough. They need not be monstrously big by any means, but buy good shoes and insist on having them properly adjusted. Provide yourself with an extra pair, so if you get them wet you can change to a dry pair.

Have stockings of different weights, so you can dress according to the temperature. Take pains not to have the stockings too short, as they are capable of confining the

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

When Maurice Chevalier made his debut at the Ziegfeld Frolic in New York in February the critics of the metropolis were as one in sounding his praises. They said that he was Will Rogers, Charlie Chaplin and Al Jolson all under one straw hat, and they predicted that the film he had just finished making in Hollywood, his first for the moving picture public, would be a great success.

That film, "Innocents of Paris" will be presented by Manager Mader at the Cliftona theatre Friday and Saturday.

It is difficult to describe the intangible quality of mimic art which this idol of the French stage wields over his audiences. Young and old take him to their hearts as soon as they glimpse his all-persuasive smile. His is a genius with something of the divine spark that made La Bernhardt immortal.

AT THE MET

Five graduates from "kid parts," in early Cecil B. De Mille production in "The Goddess Girl" in the more dignified portrayals of high school students.

Pat Moore featured as Pharaoh's son in "The Ten Commandments;" May Giraci who was seen as a child in such productions as "Man-slaughter," "Feet of Clay" and "Triumph;" Peaches Jackson cast in several Thomas Meighan pictures directed by De Mille; Bud McQuoid and Valentine Black, both of whom appeared in De Mille productions as babies, are now in their teens, and typify the high school age created by De Mille in "The Goddess Girl."

This latest Cecil B. De Mille production, written by Jeanie Macpherson, which is at the Met theatre on Friday, deals with modern youth and the problems it presents, the principal characters being of high school age. Lina Basquette interprets the role of "The Godless Girl" while Marie Prevost and George Duryea are others prominent in the cast. Noah Beery and Kate Price portray characterizations of a more mature type. The picture is packed with thrills.

shows what can be done with children

HASH corrective measures are seldom necessary with a child! Most modern parents recognize this. That's the reason so many agree on this gentle means of putting a child in order when bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, biliousness or upsets tell of a clogged digestive tract.

When used at the first sign of bad breath or feverishness, a spoonful of California Fig Syrup often does the work! Sometimes several doses are necessary. Always you can depend on its use to clear the system harmlessly and in a hurry; to give the child a new start by regulating and strengthening the stomach and bowels.

Mothers by thousands praise the gentle effectiveness of this rich, fruity product which all children love. Mrs. H. C. McMullan, 7608 Sagamore Ave., Cleveland, says: "Nothing I know can take the place of California Fig Syrup in my home. It has been a blessing to my little girl during colds and upset spells. It always has her right in a jiffy." Words like these and sales of four million bottles a year show how mothers depend on California Fig Syrup. One caution. The name "California" on the carton marks the genuine, famous for 50 years.

WASHINGTON C. H. SCORES 31-0 VICTORY OVER CIRCLEVILLE 11

Off-tackle Smashes by Armbrust Prove Too Much for Guthrie-men—Line Looks Good—Several Scoring Opportunities Ruined by Fumbles—Play Ashville in Final Game.

Failure to take advantage of at least three scoring opportunities, and inability to stop their opponents off-tackle thrusts caused the downfall of the Circleville high school eleven at the hands of Washington C. H. Thursday. The score was 31 to 0.

Several times the locals had the pigskin far into the Washington territory and hopes for scores were high in the minds of the gallery. But each time a fumble, or a smashed line play would put an end to the advance.

After Washington had scored its first touchdown in only four minutes of play by smashes through the tackles by Noon and Armbrust, the Red and Black stepped out to gain two consecutive first downs, to place the ball on the Court House gang's 16-yard stripe. But on the very next play a Circleville fumble was covered by a Washington lineman and a kick put it back to the C. H. S. territory.

The first quarter ended with the ball in Circleville's possession on their own 37-yard line.

Circleville got a break at the start of the period when Davis booted to Armbrust. Just as Armbrust got the ball, lies hit him and Armbrust fumbled. White covered the leather for Circleville on Washington's 37-yard line.

The locals were penalized for using their hands on the offense and Davis kicked short, out-of-bounds on the 30-yard mark.

Washington started another offensive which ended with Armbrust again crossing the goal lines. Thornburg's kick was good and the score was 13 to 0.

Circleville had the ball after the kick-off in midfield. Heiskell got away six yards through the line but fumbled and Sollars, for Washington, caught the ball while it was in the air. He was downed. Another offensive which ended on the goal line was started.

Armbrust again chased off his left tackle for the goal. Thornburg's kick was blocked.

ARMBRUST GOOD

Just before the half ended Johnny Heiskell crashed through the Washington line for a gain of 26 yards, and when things looked like a Circleville goal, Armbrust pulled the ball carrier down from the rear. The half ended with the ball in Circleville's possession on the Court House 17-yard stripe.

"WONDERFUL," SAYS THIS OHIO MAN OF HOYT'S COMPOUND

Describes Its Amazing Action Upon His Deranged System.

"Hoyt's Compound proved to be just the remedy I needed in my search for good health," declared Mr. Wm. McCormick, 901 East High street, Springfield, Ohio, while relating his remarkable experience with this famous prescription.

MR. WM. MCCORMICK.

"For the past 20 years I have been a great sufferer of rheumatism and nervousness," said Mr. McCormick. "I was troubled with stomach and bowel disorders, and pains seemed to be in every part of my body. I could not sleep at all during the night because of my kidneys and the awful misery I was in caused me to feel awfully weak when morning came. It finally got so that physics didn't even give me any relief from this chronic constipation trouble, and just recently when I learned about Hoyt's Compound and heard of how it had helped so many others I began a treatment."

"I took this great medicine according to the directions and began to feel better almost at once. Now the kidney and bowel afflictions have been eliminated and I rest well at night and never have to use laxatives anymore. I kept on with the treatment and now those shooting pains which were caused by rheumatism are ALL GONE and I can get around without any trouble. I can't find words in which to praise this wonderful remedy."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Drug Store and in all the leading druggists in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Washington scored again shortly after the start of the third period when Noon and Armbrust alternated at cracking the line and left tackle. Armbrust made the goal off his left tackle just as the other three had been made.

The rest of the period was evenly played, but at the beginning of the final session Circleville braced momentarily. Washington took the ball down the field, and had only six yards to go with first down. The locals held for downs and took the ball on the three yard mark. Davis kicked from the goal line and when Armbrust took the ball on his 30-yard mark he raced down the left side of the field for the goal.

LINE GOOD

The center of the Circleville line led by Adkins was impregnable during the whole show. Lots of Washington interference and poor tackling aided in Washington's touchdowns.

Circleville scored four, first downs while Washington had 11. The final game on the Circleville schedule will be played in two weeks with Ashville high school.

Paper's Varying Qualities
Philatelic nomenclature includes the adjectives wove, laid, granite, quadrille and pelure as applied to postal paper. In a general way the distinctions are these: Wove paper is of the plain, even texture used for books and newspapers; laid paper is watermarked with parallel lines close together; the lines may be either vertical or horizontal; quadrille paper is watermarked with both vertical and horizontal lines, which thus form squares or oblongs; granite paper shows colored fibers in its texture, the fibers are tiny pieces of silk thread, and the reverse of the stamp has a mottled appearance; pelure paper is thin like tissue paper, semi-transparent, but tougher and harder than the tissue texture and usually grayish in color.

"WONDERFUL," SAYS THIS OHIO MAN OF HOYT'S COMPOUND

Describes Its Amazing Action Upon His Deranged System.

"Hoyt's Compound proved to be just the remedy I needed in my search for good health," declared Mr. Wm. McCormick, 901 East High street, Springfield, Ohio, while relating his remarkable experience with this famous prescription.

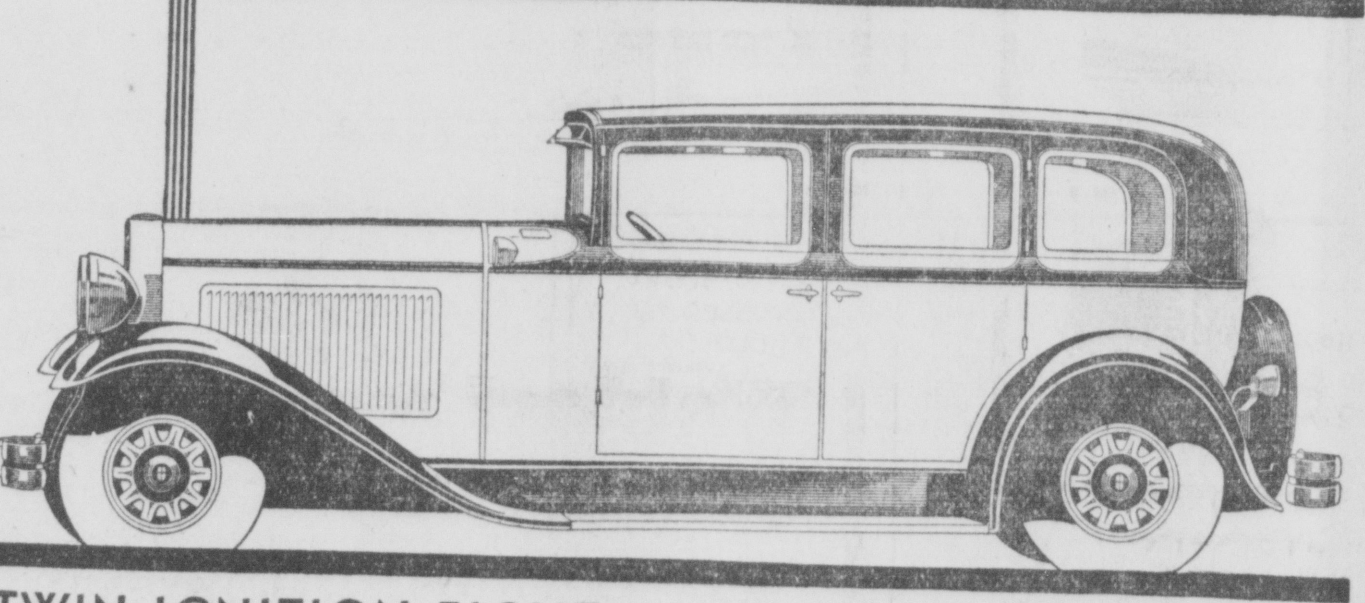

MR. WM. MCCORMICK.

"For the past 20 years I have been a great sufferer of rheumatism and nervousness," said Mr. McCormick. "I was troubled with stomach and bowel disorders, and pains seemed to be in every part of my body. I could not sleep at all during the night because of my kidneys and the awful misery I was in caused me to feel awfully weak when morning came. It finally got so that physics didn't even give me any relief from this chronic constipation trouble, and just recently when I learned about Hoyt's Compound and heard of how it had helped so many others I began a treatment."

"I took this great medicine according to the directions and began to feel better almost at once. Now the kidney and bowel afflictions have been eliminated and I rest well at night and never have to use laxatives anymore. I kept on with the treatment and now those shooting pains which were caused by rheumatism are ALL GONE and I can get around without any trouble. I can't find words in which to praise this wonderful remedy."

Hoyt's Compound is sold in Circleville at Wilder's Drug Store and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns—Adv.

OPINION seems to be unanimous that a fresh new type of motor car has arrived—a new generation—bringing new grace and smartness to the highways of the world. And it is true. Both in styling and performance, the new 1930 Nash "400s" are decidedly unusual, unusually fine. The three new motors which power these newest Nash cars are truly amazing in their smoothness, their quietness and their eager, dynamic spirit. A list of the 1930 Nash "400" features reveals countless other structural and performance advancements now introduced to motoring by these surpassing motor cars. They were built for leadership, and, in the opinion of motorists who have seen or driven them, leadership is theirs!

Fifty guests arrived in all kinds of masks. Little Zita Elsie Turner was charming in a Scotch costume, leading in the songs and games.

The Rev. John Mayer opened the party with prayer and Rev. Underhill sang and played several songs. Mr. Welch, formerly of Circleville, was kept busy trying to guess the identity of the guests.

Lunch of pumpkin pies, doughnuts, apples, coffee was served by the hostesses. The favors were little witch hats with autumn leaves inside of which were written fortunes, candy and horns.

Out of town guests at the affair were Robert Stout, Curtis Drum, and Miss Roof of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gyer and Mr. and Mrs. Verne Jones of West Jefferson.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

At the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night the following resolutions were drawn up and adopted, in memory of Miss May Lowe:

Whereas it has pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our midst to her eternal reward our friend, May Lowe, who until prevented by illness was one of our faithful and most helpful members, and realizing that the loss sustained by her family is a loss also to our club.

Therefore, be it resolved that we, The Business and Professional

Women's Club of Circleville, express to her brother and other relatives, our sincere sympathy and our appreciation of the privilege that was ours of counting Miss Lowe one of our friends and fellow workers.

Be it also resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the relatives, placed in the minutes of the Club and published in the Herald.
